Crooks give back — just not willingly

$5 million seized since 2010. Part of that cash will go toward hiring five new RCMP officers

Money well spent

"We know that public safety has a cost. But it's a cost that Manitobans expect us to bear."

Justice Minister Andrew Swan

The Manitoba government promised Thursday to put another $1 million into anti-crime measures and victims' services this year, courtesy of property seized from criminals.

The province also said it would pay for five additional RCMP officers, in an ongoing attempt to fulfill a 2011 election promise to add 150 police officers and cadets.

"We will do everything we can to meet that promise," Justice Minister Andrew Swan said Thursday.

The money comes from criminal property seizures, which have totalled $5 million since 2010. Some of the money will pay for police equipment such as ballistic helmets and roadside emergency signs. Some of the cash will also be used to pay travel costs for relatives of homicide victims who have to attend court.

The five new RCMP officers are on top of 44 Mounties, municipal police officers and cadets that the province has already paid for. That means the province is one-third of the way to fulfilling its 2011 election promise.

Swan said one hurdle so far is establishing cadet programs in rural areas, which is still a work in progress.

Cardboard bales feed fire at Winnipeg metal shop

20-foot flames.

St. Boniface roadway closed while crews battle blaze

shane.gibson@metronews.ca

Fire crews quickly quelled a fire that started in bales of cardboard at a St. Boniface metal shop Thursday morning, but making sure those smouldering bales were out proved to be a time-consuming process.

Firefighters had to use a front-end loader to bring dozens of the large blackened bales out of Industrial Metals at 560 Rue Messier one at a time to be doused after witnesses said the cardboard was set ablaze shortly after 9 a.m. by the sparks from someone cutting metal.

"The entire top of the building was filled with smoke," said Jenna Klassen, who works at Jaco Ecosolutions Canada Ltd., which shares the large industrial building with the metal shop. "It was terrifying ... the entire place turned black (with smoke) in less than five minutes ... We've got 30-foot ceilings in this place ... and (the flames) were a good 20- to 25-feet high — they almost touched the ceiling."

Between the two companies, Klassen estimated between 30 and 40 people were in the building when the fire started, and she said everyone made it out safely.

Firefighters had the fire under control by 10:15 a.m. and spent the better part of the morning making sure each bale wouldn't go up again.

Investigations prompt city to develop arson strategy

The city's public service will spend the next several months developing a long-term strategy to deal with arson after receiving a directive from the city's protection and community services committee on Thursday.

The plan, slated to be completed by October, is being developed partly as a reaction to a city report presented on arson activity over the five years between 2007 and 2012, which noted the number of arson investigations more than doubled during that period.

While the report's author, Danny Smyth, Winnipeg Po-

Winnipeg police and firefighters battle a blaze in the back lane of a North End home in April that was investigated as a possible arson. METRO FILE lice Service superintendent of investigative operations, admitted that arsons are a big problem in the city, he said the figures during the five-year reporting period make the increase seem more substantial than it is.

"Over a 10-year period, our numbers are relatively stable; 2007 and 2008 were lower than all of the previous 10 years," he said, adding that the number of arson investigations have been relatively stable at between 400 and 500 a year over the last decade. "I wouldn't characterize this as dramatically increasing over time."

Smyth told the committee that an approach that focuses on chronic youth offenders, developing a more cohesive arson reporting system between the WPS, the Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Service and the Office of the Fire Commissioner, and taking steps to remove bulky waste from alleys as soon as possible would be the way to go when combating firebugs. Smyth noted that garbage fires accounted for almost a quarter of arsons in the city.

To that end, before a final arson strategy is dealt with, city crews will make the effort to get out and pick up larger waste more regularly.

'The clock is ticking'

Saving Lake Winnipeg.

Manitoba sets out to convince U.S., other provinces to sign accord

Manitoba is setting out to persuade half of Canada and a handful of northern U.S. states to sign an agreement to save the country's "sixth great lake."

Manitoba Conservation Minister Gord Mackintosh said the high levels of pollution in Lake Winnipeg has earned it the dubious distinction of "Canada's No. 1 water hot spot" and the world's most "threatened lake of 2013."

Lake Winnipeg is being

threatened by huge algae blooms — some so large they can be seen from space — which feed partially off pollution that flows into the lake. Half the water going into the lake comes from Manitoba and the rest comes from other parts of Canada and the United States, Mackintosh said.

The clean-water agreement would need signatures from Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario, as well as North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, Mackintosh said.

He said it's time everyone did their part to save the 10th-largest freshwater lake in the world.

"The clock is ticking. We have to get going now," Mackintosh said Thursday.

The province is now putting together a "Lake Friendly" alliance, which will hold consultations and draft language aimed at cutting in half the pollution flowing into Lake Winnipeg. It won't be easy to convince everyone to clean up local waterways, but Mackintosh would like to see an accord signed in the next few years — by 2020 at the latest. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Spending under fire

Manitoba Hydro needs audit: Former PUB head

The former chairman of the Public Utilities Board says Manitoba could go bankrupt if Manitoba Hydro continues what he calls reckless spending.

Graham Lane says there needs to be an audit and external review of the public utility.

The Public Utilities Board sets electricity, natural gas and MPI rates, and approved a 3.5 per cent rate increase for hydro earlier this year.

Lane fears the province is rolling the dice on its plan to spend $20 billion on two new dams and the Bipole III transmission line. THE CANADIAN PRESS/GLOBAL WINNIPEG

A top Manitoba aboriginal leader is hopping on a motorcycle and heading across the Prairies to raise awareness of treaty rights.

Grand Chief Derek Nepinak of the Assembly of Manitoba Chiefs is joining other First Nations leaders and supporters for the Treaty Freedom Caravan and Ride.

The group will spend 10 days trekking across six treaty territories in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, using motorcycles and support vehicles.

The group started their venture Thursday by holding a pipe ceremony at Lower Fort Garry in Winnipeg, near

Mayor: Mistakes made in golf ad campaign

The $70,000 answer. Sam Katz insists all the evidence concerning spending is on the table

There are no plans to provide any more details on the controversial $70,000 "Responsible Winnipeg" golf ad campaign, Mayor Sam Katz said on Wednesday.

The mayor's powerful executive policy committee voted to receive as information a motion by councillors Paula Havixbeck (Charleswood-Tuxedo) and Harvey Smith (Daniel McIntyre), to provide a "detailed accounting" of what the money went to. This effectively put the motion on the shelf.

"I think they (questions) were all answered, all of the numbers are there, all of the facts are there, as you know, it came in about 22-23 per cent less than the number that was reported earlier," said Katz following the meeting.

Katz said mistakes were made, adding that for any future campaigns, they will "dot all of the i's and cross all of the t's."

David Sanders, a former reporter who has been following the golf-courses file closely over several weeks, spoke in support of Havixbeck's motion at the EPC meeting.

He said he wanted to see the motion expanded to include "copies of all civic documents, including emails, requests for proposal, budget approvals, purchase orders and suggested texts and date relating to the creation and implementation" of the ad campaign.

"If we can find out exactly how this happened, we may better understand how to ensure that it doesn't happen again," said Sanders.

"We are told that the city is going to launch a much more informative, consultative, par-ticipative and effective budget process in the very near future. I applaud that objective, but right now I don't have much confidence in the city's financial leadership."

Sanders said he'd also like to see a report on the number of email responses sent by citizens using the first version of the site, which allowed the user to send a form email, with a pre-written message, to each ward councillor.

Havixbeck and Smith put forward their motion at last Wednesday's city council meeting, where it was automatically referred to EPC.

Grants. Community centres get financial boost

Over a dozen Winnipeg community centres received a financial shot in the arm Thursday as the city announced over $392,000 in funding earmarked for renovations and repairs.

The money comes as part of a third round of grants to applicants for the Community Centre Renovation Grant Program, which was green-lit by council last February.

"We want to give our busy volunteers the time to concentrate on providing quality programming," said Mayor Sam Katz in a release. "Having access to these renovation grants has made it much easier for them to tackle necessary upgrades, such as washrooms, lighting and flooring."

The grant program has an intake in the spring and fall of each year, and in 2013 the city plans to shell out a total of $803,000 to grant recipients. The money is intended to be used on any repairs, upgrades, retrofits or safety improvements the centres may need, and applicants are eligible for 100 per cent of the cost of a project up to a maximum of $50,000 per project per calendar year.

Man arrested in pot grow-op raid

A 46-year-old man faces a number of charges after a police raid Tuesday night at a marijuana grow operation in the 700 block of McLeod Avenue in East Kildonan.

On June 4 at approximately 8:15 p.m., members of the Winnipeg Police Service grow-op and tactical units executed a raid at the property, where they observed the suspect fleeing the house.

The man didn't make it past the rear yard, and was arrested and charged with production of a controlled substance, possession with the purpose of trafficking and with stealing power for the grow-op.

Four hundred and fifty-nine marijuana plants were seized, with an estimated street value of $514,000.

The suspect was eventually released on a Promise to Appear. JOHN TOWNS/METRO

Miss World pageant covers up

A Muslim woman wearing a veil sits in front of foreign tourists wearing bikinis on Kuta beach in Bali. Controversy over the pageant has been mounting in Indonesia, which has a reputation as a tolerant, pluralist society. GETTY IMAGES

Indonesia. Pageant contestants will have to opt for more conservative sarongs instead of bikinis

Miss World has axed the famed bikinis from this year's pageant in Indonesia, replacing the skimpy swim-suits with conservative beach sarongs amid mounting protests from hard-line Muslim groups, organizers said Thursday.

All of the more than 130 contestants will be required to wear Bali's traditional long sarongs instead of the sexy bikinis that are historically part of the competition, said Adjie S. Soeratmadjie of the RCTI, the official broadcaster and local organizer.

Parts of the pageant will take place on the resort island of Bali and the final round will be held Sept. 28 near the capital, Jakarta. Indonesia is the world's most populous Muslim country.

"There will be no bikini in this year's Miss World pageant to respect our traditional customs and values," Soeratmadjie said, adding that the London-based Miss World Organization is on board with the decision.

"This is a sensitive issue in Indonesia. We have discussed it since last year and they have agreed," he said.

The chairwoman of the Miss World Organization, Julia Morley, confirmed that none of the 137 contestants would wear a bikini.

"Indonesia is designing for us a very beautiful one-piece beachwear, and I'm very happy with them," she told The Associated Press by phone from London, adding that the pageant will include a special beachwear fashion show.

"I don't think Indonesia is the only country that has that culture," Morley said. "But we like to work in the manner respectful to every country, and I cannot see why when you go to somebody's country you should not behave respectfully."

The pageant began in the 1950s, and the first winner was crowned in a two-piece bathing suit.

Health minister tables bill to tighten rules on injection sites

The federal government has introduced tough new rules for supervised drug-injection sites, in a move some see as an effort to deter such facilities.

The government says it's a response to a Supreme Court of Canada ruling that ordered the Conservatives to keep a Vancouver clinic open against their will.

But NDP health critic Libby Davies said the government is effectively blocking any chance of setting up a new clinic.

The new legislation would require advocates of new clinics to meet two dozen specific criteria before they can apply to open a new clinic. Among other things, they would have to canvass community opinion and gain the support of provincial and municipal authorities.

The health minister would then make the final decision.

As Health Minister Leona Aglukkaq tabled her bill on Thursday, she made it clear which way she will lean.

"Our government believes that a site involving the use of illicit substances should be strictly controlled to protect everyone in the community," she told reporters.

"Accordingly, we believe that the application process needs to be changed to create formal opportunities for local voices to be heard and their views considered before an exemption would be considered." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bill could make assisted suicide legal in Quebec

Quebec's government is days from addressing a bill that would make it the first province to legalize doctor-assisted suicide for the terminally ill.

The idea that the most gravely ill have a right to end their lives has drawn support from all parties in Quebec's National Assembly. It would appear almost certain to become law in the coming months.

A spokesperson for Social Services Minister Véronique Hivon said legislation would be introduced before lawmakers' break next week.

No beef with beef. E. coli outbreak hasn't shaken consumer confidence

Canadian cattle producers say an E. coli outbreak that made 18 people sick and led to an extensive beef recall last fall hasn't managed to shake consumer confidence in beef.

Canada Beef Inc. — the industry's marketing arm — said Canadians' total beef consumption last year was up 2.2 per cent from 2011.

Chairman Chuck MacLean said the industry supports the findings of an independent review that blamed lax attitudes by federal inspectors and staff at the XL Foods plant in Brooks, Alta., for the tainted meat.

Canada Beef said it also supports Ottawa's plan to tighten the rules for meat plants and add more inspections.

"I like the 30 recommendations and I think a lot of them are already being enacted," MacLean said Thursday from his cattle feedlot business in Bow Island in southeastern Alberta.

"Going forward you learn from whatever missteps that we have had in the industry. Hopefully we will fix that and do a better job."

MacLean said consumers can help reduce the risk of contracting E. coli by properly handling and cooking beef.

The industry is also lobbied by Health Canada for permission to use irradiation on beef products to kill E. coli.

MacLean said the food-safety system can't be made perfect, but proper safeguards can help catch and detect glitches before they have a chance to become a serious problem.

"We are putting safeguards in place so that hopefully if somebody is just having a bad day, that it doesn't get past them," MacLean said.

A group of skinheads beat a French far-left activist to death in the heart of Paris' shopping district, officials said Thursday, in an attack that raised fears of increased far-right violence.

Political tensions are high in France after months of protests against legalizing gay marriage that sometimes ended with troublemakers from the extreme right clashing with police.

Interior Minister Manuel Valls said a fight broke out Wednesday evening between two groups of young people in a pedestrian street just steps away from the famous Printemps department store. The activist, Clement Meric, was initially hospitalized in grave Politicians from left and right lashed out at the violence.

Study. UN food agency research finds that one-third of food produced in the world is lost or wasted

KIERON MONKS

Metro World News

Pope Francis added his voice to the growing campaign against food waste on World Environment Day, attacking a "culture of waste" that is "stealing from the table of those who are poor and hungry."

Awareness around the campaign has grown rapidly, with the European Parliament recently adopting a resolution to halve food waste in member states by 2025. There have already been successes, such as household waste in the U.K. dropping eight per cent over two years.

Activists welcomed the Pope's remarks.

"It is important, and what

he said was right," said Tristram Stuart, founder of activist group Feeding the 5000, part of the EU FUSIONS initiative (Food Use of Social Innovation by Optimising Waste Prevention Strategies). "Wasting imported food means the locals in food-insecure areas cannot buy it, so it is taken off their table."

But the focus should be more on the suppliers, Stuart claimed. "Retailers shouldn't deflect attention to the consumer, most food waste is in the supply chain. But consumers have the responsibility to ensure the businesses we buy from every day are held to account."

One strategy is to audit the supply and release comprehensive figures on waste, with several European parliaments considering such a proposal. Stuart is optimistic that agreements can be reached.

"Compared to other campaigns like climate change, food waste is something that strikes people as instinctively wrong, from a taxi driver in Delhi to a CEO in New York, and there are relatively simple solutions."

International supermarkets have been slow to commit to waste cutting proposals, but Charlie Clutterbuck of the U.K. Food Ethics Council recommends people can influence them by buying closer to home.

"Localism is a solution," he told Metro. "If there is a network to link local initiatives it will stop food prices rising, make us less dependent and change the supply model."

Today Show. Wrist slasher says America's IRS ruined his life

A 76-year-old man yelling that the government was going to take his house slit his wrists outside NBC's Today Show Thursday morning before he was taken into police custody as an emotionally disturbed person, police said.

The man, Pak Chong-Mar, was in the crowd outside the Today studio at Rockefeller Plaza in New York and was yelling about how the U.S. Internal Revenue Service was corrupt and ruined his life, authorities said. He took out a knife and sliced at his wrists, police said.

Today Show host Matt

Lauer tweeted: "Sorry, a man attempted to harm himself with a knife." Lauer also explained the situation to viewers.

Police and plaza security guards quickly subdued him and took him into custody, authorities and witnesses said. Some bystanders in the crowd were treated for exposure to blood.

Police took the man to a hospital where his mental health was being evaluated. His injuries were not life threatening. The man's last known address was in Queens.

At least 40 per cent of Nova Scotia's strawberry industry, a sector worth about $18 million annually, has been damaged by an insect-borne virus, provincial Agriculture Minister John MacDonell said Thursday. The virus is carried by aphids and has been detected in the Debert area, near Truro, as well as the Annapolis Valley. But MacDonell said he wasn't worried about the possibility of the virus spreading much further because of the relatively short distances aphids travel. ## Midnight munchies. McDonald's offers breakfast for night owls McDonald's is taking a small step toward offering breakfast items outside of its usual breakfast hours — at least if you're a night owl.

Starting this month, the fast-food chain says participating 24-hour restaurants in select U.S. locations will offer an After Midnight menu that includes its Egg McMuffin, Big Mac and Chicken McNuggets.

Customers will be able to create Midnight Value Meals, with either fries or hash browns as their side items, McDonald's says.

A mockup of the menu provided by the company showed an Egg McMuffin paired with French fries, next to the heading, "Dinner or Breakfast? Yes."

The rollout of the menu, which is available from midnight to 4 a.m., builds on a Breakfast After Midnight menu the company has been testing.

McDonald's CEO Don Thompson had said in a CNBC interview earlier this year that the company was open to expanding its breakfast hours. Fans of McDonald's breakfast have long wanted the chain to make its Egg McMuffins and biscuits available later in the day. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

@metropicks asked: Giving employees sick days is becoming obsolete. What's the best way to use your sick day?

@Astroboi8: If people use sick days as extra vacation days. Then those who are moral are penalized.

@FrenchmanCanada: Getting better, isn't that the point?

@jarmak77: It's best not to use a sick day since most places I worked discipline you for using them.

@hoodPALS: Visit tanning salon for deep tan, get new wardrobe, and visit the amusement park and post photos on Facebook.

@RaiderRoddy: when you are actually sick !!!

@mcpelto: watching Ferris Bueller's Day Off

@HfxHeathen: Oh, good. Take away my 3 unpaid sick days a year. Productivity soars when there's sneezing in the next cubicle.

@LegendaryAres: Sometimes, you just need a day off. What's wrong with making them use up a sick day to get it? Sounds fair to me.

Synopsis

This new buddy comedy pairs Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn for the first time since 2005's Wedding Crashers. They are Nick and Billy, two wild and crazy guys whose sales jobs are made obsolete in the technological age. Unable to get a foothold in the new media field they crash Google's Mountain View, Calif. headquarters and become "noogles" in hopes of landing gigs as interns, despite having no experience with computers. "We're looking at some sort of mental Hunger Games against a bunch of genius kids for just a handful of jobs," says Nick.

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

The Internship.

Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn fail to rekindle that Wedding Crashers magic in this poor man's version of Revenge of the Nerds

Richard: Mark, this is the funniest infomercial I've ever seen. As a comedy movie it doesn't rate that high, but as an advertisement for Google it's a knee slapper. I've seen product placement in movies before, but this is something else. By the time Rose Byrnes' character says, "I believe what we do here makes people's lives better," I was ready to worship at the Church of the Sacred Search Engine. We also learn that Google is ranked as the best place to work in America. That's all great, but I was hoping for more laughs with my infomercial. What did you think?

Mark: Ugh! The shameless corporate tie-in made me want to take a shower. And it opens up the door for less savoury companies to do the same thing: can Monsanto: The Movie be far behind? It's too bad, because the leads are great, and it's a great premise — but I didn't laugh once. It could have been a version of Animal House set at a business behemoth, but comes off as a bad Revenge of the Nerds. The idea would make a great reality series, but the movie flops and feels engineered from the first frame onwards.

RC: I'm not so sure I thought the leads were great. There are some laughs in The Internship. Unfortunately, very few of them are generated by Vaughn and Wilson. The chemistry that made Wedding Crashers such a big hit eight years ago is still in place, but the material isn't. They still banter a blue streak but it feels tired and old, like many of the jokes. The two luddites at a tech mecca should have been workable, but it often feels like laughing at grandpa because he can't figure out how to work the remote.

MB: I meant the leads are great, but not in this movie! Everything seems laboured, underscored, and over directed. These two guys may preach the value of eccentricity in the workplace, but the script defies their goal at every turn. It's a very conventional movie that's even a little smarmy at times. The old Vince Vaughn would have made fun of the sentimentality that crowds any good moments out of the picture. And Wilson's role is just too vaporous to register.

RC: Perhaps next time the screenwriters can Google some better jokes.

MB: I say Yahoo! to that.

Owen Wilson and Vince Vaughn star in The Internship. HANDOUT

Much ado about comics and TV

Beauty in the Bard.

Much Ado About Nothing director Joss Whedon has looked to Shakespeare for most of his work

Some might find it strange that Joss Whedon's first movie since The Avengers — his 2012 megahit about a team of Marvel Comics superheroes — is an independent adaptation of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing. But it makes perfect sense to him. The man who created TV hits like Buffy the Vampire Slayer and its spinoff Angel says his dramas all have a bit of the Bard in them.

"When you're working in Marvel Comics — whether it's comics or the cinematic universe — you're cribbing from Shakespeare," Whedon said in a recent interview.

"The big themes, the big emotions, its kings, and betrayal and love and tragedy and that good stuff, and even in the way I write, any time you get to write about an Asgardian, there's going to be a touch of the Elizabethan in there."

While Much Ado debuts in theatres next Friday, Whedon's focus is already on Avengers 2 — due out in 2015 — and his upcoming Marvel-based TV series Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D., which premieres

Quoted

"When you're working in Marvel Comics — whether it's comics or the cinematic universe — you're cribbing from Shakespeare."

on ABC this fall. Whedon acknowledges he does feel "pressure" to follow up on the success of The Avengers — the third highest-grossing film ever.

The comic book enthusiast says The Avengers seems perfectly normal to him — a world where Thor, Iron Man and Captain America "hang out" — and he was able to readily convey that to a wider audience.

"This is how the world meant to be. These guys are going to hang out and save the world and then they're going to get really mad at each other."

Whedon says — like with Shakespeare — the comic book language is "so familiar" to him that he's not scrambling to figure "this superhero thing out. We were only scrambling to make sure other people know what we already know."

Thriller

The Purge

Director. James DeMonaco

Stars. Ethan Hawke, Lena Headey

To call The Purge cooked-up is an injustice to baked goods. A dystopian futuristic thriller about a family enduring an annual 12-hour government-backed event whereby crimes of any sort are legal (somehow this curbs violence the other 364 days of the calendar?) is as contrived and callous as cinema gets. If the filmmaker's aim was to create a moral allegory akin to A Clockwork Orange, he didn't even come within an eyelash.

Drama

The Lesser Blessed

Director. Anita Doron

Stars. Joel Evans, Benjamin Bratt, Kiowa Gordon

In Anita Doron's The Lesser Blessed, the life of a First Nations teenager living in the Northwest Territories is drastically changed when he's befriended by the new boy at school. Larry Sole (Joel Evans) stops being an outsider the day Johnny Beck (Kiowa Gordon) takes him under his wing, but even he can't seem to protect Larry from his past. Though it serves a heavy dose of adolescent drama, Doron's feature lends a voice to First Nations characters we don't normally see on screen.

Documentary

Fight Like Soldiers, Die Like Children

Director. Patrick Reed

Nearly 20 years after witnessing the Rwandan genocide, General Roméo Dallaire is fighting a desperate—and some say impossible—war against the use of child soldiers. The documentary follows Dallaire through Rwanda and the DR Congo as he works to free child soldiers and promote peace. Though very interesting, the doc doesn't delve deeply enough into any of its subjects (Dallaire, the experiences of child soldiers, efforts to combat their use, etc.). A tighter focus would make the film all the more powerful. REGAN REID

There's not much 'Buzz' in space: Aldrin

While astronaut Buzz Aldrin enjoys movies about space, he doesn't always think they get it right. His main point of contention after seeing After Earth: "There was a lot of noise. In space, you don't get that much noise." Aldrin, who followed Neil Armstrong onto the surface of the moon during the historic Apollo 11 landing in 1969, says that "noise doesn't propagate in a vacuum. We talked over headsets." Aldrin enjoyed the father-son dynamic between Will Smith and son Jaden, but thought there was a little too much "shoot'em-up" for his taste. "I hope the aliens are more peaceful than they are in this film, wherever they are," Aldrin joked. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's the end of the world as (Seth and Evan) know it ...

This is the End.
Superbad writers
talk the apocalypse,
comedy and condoms

LIZ
liz.brown@metronews.ca

The kings of the buddy comedy are back with a film of apocalyptic proportions. Seth Rogen and Evan Goldberg have been friends since childhood and writing partners since high school, where they first penned Superbad.

Their new collaboration, This is the End, features an ensemble cast of some of their favourite past co-conspirators. Rogen, Jay Baruchel, James Franco, Jonah Hill, Danny McBride and Craig Robinson (all playing themselves) hunker down in Franco's house during the end of the world. A veritable list of Hollywood's who's who round out the cast with bit parts: Michael Cera, Rihanna, Channing Tatum, Paul Rudd, Jason Segel and more have a role to play in the rapture.

Recently Metro caught up with the Vancouver-bred pals in Toronto over (fittingly) a bottle of Molson Canadian.

This idea was spawned from a short you wrote in 2007 called Jay & Seth vs. The Apocalypse. How did it turn into a full-length movie?

Seth: It took us a really long time to think of a way to expand it, honestly. We just couldn't think of where it would go, so it really took us four years of just kicking around the idea to really even get what type of full length movie it could be.

Evan: And then we had the people-play-themselves idea separate, and until we combined them, it didn't seem like the apocalypse thing was a full idea to us.

Seth: And then around three and a half years ago, we realized we could combine them. There's a lot of self-

Seth Rogen talks about the end of the world over a beer. LIZ BEDDALL/METRO

deprecation in the movie. Was it hard to get the actors to poke fun at themselves?

Evan: The studios were kind of frightened by the concept of actors playing themselves.

Seth: The actors were really into it. I don't think anyone said no based on content. We were going out to these actors to see if they would play themselves so they were overwhelmingly psyched about it, so it was nice to see that some people thought it was a good idea.

Michael Cera was wild, with the cocaine and sex...

Seth: He was so crazy, it kind of raised the bar for everyone. There was a lot of peer pressure involved in making this movie. It was like well Michael did THAT so you don't want to be the guy who says no to doing something.

Evan: It wasn't like when an actor finished their bit they went back to their trailer. They stayed with all the other actors because everyone was excited.

It's the end of the world, you can only have three survival items. What are they?

Evan: Three of these four: water, food, guns, condoms.

Seth: The thing about guns is they can help you acquire any other items you may need...

Evan: But you don't want venereal disease.

Evan Goldberg hopes his last moment on earth involves a laugh. LIZ BEDDALL/METRO

Seth: With a gun, you can get condoms.

Evan: True.

Wouldn't condoms depend on who you were with?

Evan: Condoms are just always a good idea.

Seth: You can fill them with water and play with them.

Final question. What would be the last thing you guys would say to each other?

Seth: You are nothing without me.

Evan: Hahaha

Seth: The laugh is probably what would actually happen.

Evan: I hope my last moment is just hahaha.

Keys to the City/Ministry

Al Jourgensen is a massive Blackhawks fan — so massive that he wrote the team's official anthem. They play this all the time at the United Centre.

Master of Puppets/Misstallica

Tribute bands have their own subculture. Below that, though, are all-female bands paying tribute to all-male bands. Start with this and move on to Vag Halen and AC/DShe.

Billie Jean Get Lucky/Michael Jackson vs. Daft Punk

This mash-up by Israeli DJ Noyalosha works astonishingly well. Can we just go ahead and declare Get Lucky the song of the summer already?

Green explores Alexis breakup on new album

Interview. Former Alexisonfire frontman Dallas Green talks about his depression after leaving band he helped form

Dallas Green.
CHRIS YOUNG/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two years ago, Little Hell granted City and Colour's Dallas Green his greatest success yet — platinum sales, his first chart-topping album and eventually, a Juno Award for songwriter of the year. So naturally, as he toured his most popular record yet, he was miserable.

That Green was blue had nothing to do with Little Hell, which he liked, but instead a heavy secret he'd been toting: the 32-year-old had already decided to depart the beloved post-hardcore band he'd helped to found more than a decade earlier, Alexisonfire, but news wouldn't reach the public until months later.

"Making Little Hell, I knew I had left the band," he recalled during a recent interview at an east Toronto bar. "I was lying to all the public, right? ... And that really (messed) me up."

It took making The Hurry and the Harm — out Tuesday — to help heal Green. As he was wrapping up the Little Hell tour, he "rekindled his relationship" with the rest of Alexisonfire and they announced plans for a farewell jaunt.

He decided to work quickly, wanting to figure out new songs before re-immersing himself in the Alexis head-space before their bittersweet victory lap. In Nashville and Toronto, he put together The Hurry and the Harm and had a "wonderful experience." After completing the Alexis tour, he was suddenly in a far more positive place than he had been in a long time.

"For the first time in eight or nine years, I didn't have anything to do," he said. "I had the record done ... and I finished and closed the book on the Alexis chapter. The first couple weeks of January are the first two weeks I've ever relaxed, like literally relaxed, in eight or nine years. And it was a really big moment. It was like a proverbial weight off my shoulders."

Tatum worries about Bieber's development

Despite having a newborn daughter at home to concern himself with, Channing Tatum admits he's more worried about another young person: Justin Bieber. "I do believe that whatever age you become famous, you end up staying that age," Tatum tells Vanity Fair. "I worry about Bieber, man. That kid's wildly talented. I hope he doesn't fall down into the usual ways of young kids because it's so hard for someone to be responsible when they're not asked to be."

Pop stars in space

This may or may not give Channing Tatum more reason to be concerned: Justin Bieber has booked a spot on a Virgin Galactic suborbital space flight, according to Virgin founder Richard Branson. "Great to hear Justin Bieber and (his manager) Scooter Braun are latest Virgin Galactic future astronauts. Congrats, see you up there," Branson posted to Twitter this week. Bieber seemed to confirm the news by re-tweeting the mogul's sentiments. Back in February, Bieber tweeted that he wants to "do a concert in space," so perhaps this is more of a scouting trip than a vacation.

Ethan Hawke

Ethan Hawke gushes over Cage's acting abilities

Ethan Hawke admits he's more than a little "obsessed" with fellow actor Nicolas Cage.

"He's the only actor since Marlon Brando that's actually done anything new with the art of acting," he said during a Q&A session on Reddit. "He's successfully taken us away from an obsession with naturalism into a kind of presentation style of acting that I imagine was popular with the old troubadours. If I could erase his bottom half bad movies and only keep his top half movies, he would blow everyone out of the water." No word, though, on whether Hawke is going to let Cage influence his own acting style.

Planning a wedding is no piece of cake, although you do get one in the end. But the road to the big day can be bumpy, especially when it comes to choosing wine to be served for that all-important toast to the bride.

It's essential to is to worry less about what you prefer and more about what the majority of your guests will enjoy.

Then there's the cost. Here is where size matters. There's a savings component when you trade up, so bigger is always better.

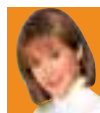

The selection of 1.5 litre bottles varies wildly across the country. So does their flavour profiles, with many "Canadian" versions made from a blend of imported and domestic juice.

Chile offers some of the best value when it comes to larger bottles, with Concha y Toro's 2011 Frontera Cabernet Sauvignon Merlot (1,500 ml, $13.95 to $19.99) offering bright, red berry fruit and Frontera Sauvignon Blanc (1,500 ml, $13.95 to $19.99) showing off gooseberry and citrus expression.

A great way to make your own healthier pizzas is to use thin flour tortillas or pita bread rather than the thick pizza dough that has more calories than nutrients!

Use whatever vegetables and cheese you like.

1. Preheat the oven to 400 F.

Ingredients

- 4 flour small tortillas or pita breads (preferably whole wheat)
- 3/4 cup tomato pasta sauce
- 8 small mushrooms, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup diced sweet red or green pepper
- 1 tbsp chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 tsp dried oregano
- 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped feta cheese (optional)

This recipe serves eight or makes 16 hors d'oeuvres. MARK SHAPIRO, FROM ROSE REISMAN BRINGS HOME LIGHT COOKING (ROBERT ROSE)

Place pita bread or tortillas on pizza metal or ceramic dish.

2. Divide the tomato sauce among the breads, ensuring to spread evenly.

3. Top with mushrooms, red pepper, basil and oregano. Sprinkle with cheeses.

4. Bake the pizza for 12 minutes or until it is crisp and the cheese is melted. ROSE REISMAN BRINGS HOME LIGHT COOKING (ROBERT ROSE) BY ROSE REISMAN

Tasty wrappers: Can we eat our way to a cleaner future?

Edible packaging. Across the world various forms of this concept are available and the outcome, one feels, can only be good

DHN, RNCP
myfriendinfood.com

Who can forget the racket that a noisy biodegradable Sunchip bag made? Kudos to any manufacturer who cares enough to take an ecological step in the right direction.

Reducing waste and recycling is on the radar of every responsible eater and food manufacturer, no doubt, but the system just isn't perfect yet. What would be ideal is a zero waste, edible package. But will that ever be a reality?

Packaging expert Loong-Tak

Lim, an associate professor at the department of food science at the University of Guelph, says that we already have edible packaging, we just don't know it. Sausage casing, for instance, used to be made from the intestine of animals but now it is man made. His group has the "objective to utilize soy protein and waste from soy plants to produce edible films and coatings. We extracted cellulose microfibrils from the cellulosic waste from soy and use them as a filler to strengthen soy protein and alginate films. The idea is to use them as an edible packaging, for example as a primary packaging in sausage."

Seaweed itself, in the form of Nori, is also an edible wrapper of sorts. The original, most likely. The sugar coating and carnuba wax on M and M's are intended to have the same properties of containing a volatile substance with a stronger one. But that's kinda cheating, right? They aren't edible packaging in the sense that we think of — a vessel that carries

It's coming, Lim says. The hurdle is that edible products won't have the robust barrier properties needed to be shelf stable for long periods or throughout travel. They will necessarily have to be quickly used and consumed. They won't be able to hold the marketing and printing dyes like current packages can. Further, the manufacturer needs to meet strict applications of food grade materials and storage to prevent mold and bacteria.

Look to Taiwan for the most hopeful and inspiring idea. Chen Liang-erh, an amateur inventor, created edible bowls from oats. They aren't meant to hold much for long but work well for a street food meal of noodles and then a little crispy cracker after-snack instead of trash. In Japan Nobuhiko Arikawa of Rice-Design has created beautiful restaurant quality edible tableware from traditional hard tack cracker dough. Both inspired ideas with legs.

We may see more of these kinds of edible packaging fairly quickly as it is already common to find cornstarch utensils instead of plastic. The biodegradable packages are quickly improving, but the futuristic image of a zero trash food world isn't likely to come soon. Not while labelling and marketing has such a hold over our store shelves anyway.

HOW TO FIND SWEET RELIEF

FIVE WAYS TO MANAGE YOUR SUGAR INTAKE

According to a Statistics Canada report, Canadians consume an average of 110 grams of sugar per day, the equivalent of about 26 teaspoons (or about 21 per cent of their daily calories).

If you want to reduce your sugar intake, it's not necessarily an easy thing to do, especially when much of the sugar we consume is found in the foods we eat, in addition to what we add on our own.

Lydia Knorr, a registered dietitian, offers some sweet relief. Here are five simple ways you can reduce your sugar intake without giving up all of your favourite foods and beverages:

CHOOSE WHOLE GRAINS

Overwhite breads, white rice, and processed and refined carbohydrates digest quickly in the body and can cause rapid fluctuations in blood glucose levels. Whole grains, starchy vegetables and legumes provide fibre and break down more slowly in the body, sustaining blood glucose levels.

WATCH OUT FOR HIDDEN SOURCES OF SUGAR

Some healthy foods like yogurt and oatmeal may contain added sugars. Choose plain varieties of yogurt or oatmeal, then add a naturally-sourced, calorie-free sweetener.

GET TO KNOW THE SUGARS ON FOOD LABELS

Be mindful of foods that list sugar within the first few ingredients on the ingredient label. Also, learn the different names for sugar so you understand its various forms, such as ingredients ending in "ose".

BEWARE OF BEVERAGES

According to a Statistics Canada report, beverages account for 35 per cent of the daily sugar intake for adults. Limit intake of these.

DON'T SKIP MEALS

Your blood sugar levels could drop to a point that may encourage cravings for or binging on sugary foods. If this happens, you can help curb cravings by eating a piece of fruit.

TIME FOR A CHANGE IN ROUTINE — TIME FOR PANDA TEA

You have been grabbing a coffee on your way to work for years. Isn't it time to try something new?

Today is your chance.

Experience something more exciting than coffee — something that will keep you coming back for more.

You have probably heard of, or tried, bubble tea, but you have never tried bubble tea like it's served at Panda Tea on Pembina Highway.

The hallmark of bubble tea is its tapioca pearls — if made just right, they can provide a unique and eye-opening beverage experience. Panda Tea makes its pearls in-house, using only the most authentic ingredients and techniques.

Panda Tea's owners, who hail from Taiwan, make these drinks the way they are meant to be made, using their knowledge and recipes to share this traditional drink with you.

Until Sunday, bring in this copy of Metro Winnipeg and you can buy any drink on the menu and get the second free.

Try a Taro Milk Tea — a blend of black tea, milk and authentic Taro flavour — or sample a refreshing Coconut Milk Tea, made with coconut milk imported from Thailand.

Both the Taro Milk Tea and Coconut Milk Tea can also be made as a slush drink — perfect for hot summer days.

Panda Tea's signature drink — the Panda Bubble Milk Tea — is another great choice. This perfect blend of Taiwanese black tea and authentic milk powder is set off by specially prepared tapioca bubbles, cooked at just the right temperature, making them the perfect texture. The result is an unforgettable drink that might just replace coffee in your daily routine.

YEA DIM SUM IS BACK IN BUSINESS

RESTAURANT HAS MORE TO OFFER AFTER OWNERS DECIDED TO REOPEN

The original Dim Sum owners are back in business. The owners of the company first began their business with the launch of Emperor Palace Restaurant, a partnership with their aunt and uncle. It was packed everyday, especially on the weekends, where it was set up for weddings, birthdays and office events. Those were great times for patrons.

Eventually, the owners decided to give the restaurant a facelift. Renamed Dim Sum Garden, it was the next venture. The owners hired various chefs from Asia and combined their knowledge on Chinese cuisine to make it a success in Winnipeg.

The restaurant was the first in town to offer dim sum happy hour, which was so popular it brought in a new clientele. Customers would line up out the door no matter what the weather was like.

About six years ago, the owners decided to cease operating. They realized they were working a lot and didn't have enough time with family. So, in 2007, they sold the business.

After selling, the owners saw a lot of their regular customers, who told them how much they enjoyed the restaurant when they operated it. The customers enjoyed the food, but also the relationship built over the last 20 years.

Due to these comments, Yea Dim Sum was launched with a new interpretation of Chinese cuisine.

The owners are now are back in business with more to offer.

TAKE AND BAKE A FRESH PIZZA

PAPA MURPHY'S USES ONLY QUALITY INGREDIENTS AND FRESH DOUGH

There is a new, fresh and delicious take-and-bake pizza company in Winnipeg.

Papa Murphy's is the largest take-and-bake pizza company in the world and is the fifth largest pizza chain in North America. The Vancouver, Wash.-based company has more than 1,300 stores in three provinces and 38 U.S. states. Papa Murphy's was voted as Zagat Survey's "No. 1 rated pizza chain" in 2010, 2011 and 2012.

Doug and Lisa Sanders, owners of Papa Murphy's Winnipeg East, say that this is the best pizza they have ever tasted. Quality ingredients are used to make a quality pizza, the dough is made fresh every day, and the produce is cut up fresh every day.

CONTRIBUTED

Guests have the opportunity to take the pizza home to bake it when it is convenient for them. Another advantage is that there is no tax on Papa Murphy's pizzas because customers take the pizza home to cook it.

Customers can choose from three types of crust — original, deLITE and stuffed. The original crust rises up perfectly to create a delicious pizza. The deLITE crust is a thin, cracker-like crust that has 40 per cent fewer calories and 30 per cent less fat than the original crust pizza. The stuffed pizzas contain sauce, 100 per cent real mozzarella cheese and toppings in between two original crusts that are braided together. The stuffed pizzas are approximately three pounds (large) to five pounds (family) of pizza.

Papa Murphy's pizzas are perfect summertime pizzas. Guests can pick up a pizza on their way to the lake. They can also grill their pizzas on a barbecue.

In addition to pizzas, Papa Murphy's has delicious desserts that include cinnamon wheels, s'mores and cookie dough.

The store is located at 31B-1530 Regent Ave. W. (across from Kildonan Place Shopping Centre). Guests can pre-order by calling 204-414-7272 (PAPA).

DOG DAYS OF SUMMER

FUN ACTIVITIES FOR YOU AND YOUR PET

Discover the joy of being active with your canine companion. Try some of these fun activities:

1 Go for a walk. Sounds basic, but many pet owners don't make it a daily practice. "Behaviour problems and obesity — the No. 1 medical problem for dogs — can arise from inadequate exercise," says Dr. Deji Odetoyinbo, a veterinarian with a busy urban practice in Toronto and 12 years experience in emergency medicine.

2 Play fetch. Whether you use balls, squeak toys or some other retrievable object, many dogs love fetching. "Dogs are social animals and retrieving something is an interaction that's mentally gratifying and intensely rewarding."

3 Go for a swim. Dogs generally like water, but swimming comes with a few caveats. "Not every breed should be allowed in water — bulldogs in particular," Odetoyinbo says. "Make sure the current is safe. And remember that floating algae can be deadly, so if the water has a blue-green film, keep your dog out."

4 Go for obedience training. This is especially important for younger dogs, but even old dogs can learn new tricks. "It's also a good way to solidify the bond between pet and owner."

5 Take your dog visiting. A well-behaved dog can do wonders for seniors and those with developmental disabilities. "Talk to your vet first to ensure your dog has the right temperament and is free of communicable health problems, since some people you encounter may be immune-compromised," Odetoyinbo says.

GEM PHOTOGRAPHY/VEER

6 Go on vacation. "Just make sure to take along first aid items, medications and food (in case you can't get your regular brand where you are going). Give your dog plenty of bathroom breaks, water and cool air while driving. Ensure immunizations are up to date and check that your destination is pet friendly."

STRETCHING YOUR LEGS WITH YOUR FOUR-LEGGED FRIEND

To keep walks happy, comfortable and safe, here is a quick list of things to consider when you are out and about with your four-legged friend this summer, compiled with the help of Dr. Deji Odetoyinbo, a Toronto veterinarian with 12 years experience in emergency medicine.

Plan your route. It's easy to head out, then find that you have gone too far and your pet is struggling. "Especially short-faced breeds like pugs and bulldogs can suffer severe respiratory distress if they're exercised on hot days," Odetoyinbo says.

Stay on the grass. Concrete or paved surfaces can cause burned foot pads if you are walking on a hot day. "Staying on a path or grassy surface will keep paws cooler and act as better cushioning for a dog's joints."

Go early or late. "Many dogs keep going until they drop, so it's important to ensure they don't get overheated. Walk early or late in the day when it's cooler."

Take a leash. "Even if you're headed to an off-leash zone, your pet should be leashed en route." Not all dogs are well-behaved in the dog park, so it's best to be able to leash your pet if it or other dogs it is playing with are acting up.

Carry enough poop bags. One dog, one bag, right? Wrong! You may need extras since some dogs go multiple times — or someone else in the park might be stuck. "Three bags is a good number," Odetoyinbo says.

Don't forget water. Most dogs aren't trained to drink out of a bottle. "There are great collapsible containers that double as a dispenser that are handy and easy to carry." Check your local pet store.

SAFE SOLUTIONS IN THE GARDEN

With summer in our midst, it's time to gear up the green thumb and get gardening. Keep your pet in mind this season while planting your garden and create a truly enjoyable outdoor oasis that's also safe for your four-legged friend.

Clarine Lee-Macaraig, an eco-expert with Evergreen, a national organization committed to building sustainable green cities, offers the following tips for passionate pet owners to take action in their own backyards and beyond:

PLANTING PROWESS

Choosing the right plants is key to a safe garden. Avoid Lily of the Valley, Yew, Rhododendron, Oleander, Azaleas, Foxglove and Deadly Nightshade, which can be just as toxic to humans as pets. If you prefer a green space to garden beds, consider white clover seeds instead of grass seeds. White clover is more tolerant of dog and cat urine.

ROAMING ROVER

Know your pet's personality and design accordingly. For an energetic pup, create a raised garden, which can protect some of your prized plants, keep your pet safe and help your pet stay. Raised garden beds are also good solutions to pets that are chewers.

SAFE SOLUTIONS

Keeping it organic is the safest way to garden for everyone in the family. Avoid pesticides and fertilizers, which can be dangerous for four-legged family members. Because pets regularly clean themselves the chemicals can irritate and harm a cat or dog. Know your pet. If your pet is sensitive and has allergies even natural or organic pest and weed controls can aggravate them. Try companion planting for the best pest control.

REIN IT IN

Be sure to keep your pets (cats and dogs) leashed when walking on unknown trails to protect plant life and wildlife in forests and wetlands. Remember that cats can be wildlife conscious, too, by wearing a leash and collar bell to alert and protect birds and other wildlife. — News Canada

HELP SUPPORT D'ARCY ANIMAL RESCUE CENTRE

YARD SALE JUNE 8-9

The D'Arcy Animal Rescue Centre annual yard sale fundraiser has been holding yard sales for the past 12 years. This year's sale will be held June 8-9.

Funds raised go toward a never-ending vet bill. The shelter is constantly holding fundraisers to fund the daily cost of operating a "for life" animal facility. The shelter receives no city or government funding.

Due to a late spring this year, the number of homeless kittens and puppies are now making their way to the shelter. More than 160 animals are being housed with approximately 50 in foster homes waiting to come in to the facility.

The shelter constantly takes in animals from the province, city animal services and surrounding animal control agencies. The need for these services is demanding and it has always been a struggle to keep up.

The shelter is pleased to be celebrating 12 successful years in business and looks forward to being there for the homeless animals in need in the future.

Visit June 8-9 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the annual yard sale where there will be 50 tables of items to sell to raise funds.

There will be a barbecue both days and you can visit the animals living at the shelter.

The ARC is a registered charity and donations of $20 or more are tax deductible and appreciated.

D'Arcy's A.R.C. (Animal Rescue Centre) is located at 730B Century St.

NHL playoffs. With Boston ahead 11-2 in goals over the series, Pittsburgh needs to fill the net to avoid sweep

The Penguins are improving at putting more shots on net. They just need to put more into the net.

And they're running out of time.

Pittsburgh forced Boston goalie Tuukka Rask to make 53 saves, but the Bruins won 2-1 in double overtime on Wednesday night for a 3-0 lead in the Eastern Conference final.

The Penguins must keep firing pucks at Rask, forward Pascal Dupuis said Thursday, and "with the firepower that we have on our team, eventually they will go in."

If "eventually" doesn't come Friday night, their season will be over in stunning fashion. The team of Sidney Crosby, Evgeni Malkin and other top offensive threats will have been swept in the best-of-seven series.

It would be a shocking end to a season in which the Penguins led the NHL in scoring, and averaged 4.27 goals per game in their first two playoff series, but have been outscored 11-2 in the three losses to the Bruins.

Only three teams have overcome 3-0 playoff deficits. The Penguins know the odds are stacked heavily against them but are trying to ignore that.

"I think if you're betting right now, you're not betting on the Penguins down 3-0," said forward Brandon Sutter, who has one of their two goals. "But we're not going to quit. The percentages are, obviously, against us, but we've got a good team."

The top-seeded Penguins were dominated by the fourth-seeded Bruins in the first two games, losing 3-0 and 6-1. But in Game 3, they outplayed Boston for much of regulation.

"We need to be the team who we believe we are and go back to what's made us successful," forward Matt Cooke said.

"Obviously, the result wasn't there, but the effort and determination and style of play was more like who we are."

The Bruins won when Patrice Bergeron, covered closely by defenceman Brooks Orpik, redirected Brad Marchand's pass behind goalie Tomas Vokoun at 15:19 of the second overtime.

An inch or two either way, and the pass might have missed Bergeron's stick or his shot could have gone wide of the net.

"He drove the net. He outbattled the guy," said Bruins centre David Krejci, the leading scorer in the playoffs. "It looked pretty simple, but it's tough when you go to the net to keep your stick on the ice and he managed to do that and got a big goal."

The last team to lose a series after going up 3-0 was the Bruins in the Eastern Conference semifinals against the Philadelphia Flyers in 2010.

Serena eyeing return to French Open throne

Done with a dominating performance in the French Open semifinals, Serena Williams climbed the stairs leading from the locker-room to the players' lounge, looking to give her mother a hug.

Smiling widely all the while, Williams greeted visitors, posed for photos and signed autographs on her way.

It's been more than a decade since she was so happy — and played so well — this deep in the tournament at Roland Garros.

Coming as close to perfect as seems possible, Williams absolutely overwhelmed last year's runner-up, fifth-seeded Sara Errani of Italy, 6-0, 6-1 in a mere 46 minutes Thursday to reach the final for the first time since winning her lone French Open championship in 2002.

"It doesn't seem like that long ago," Williams said, "even though it was."

To collect her 16th Grand Slam title Saturday, Williams will need to beat defending champion Maria Sharapova, who put aside 11 double-faults and got past third-seeded Victoria Azarenka 6-1, 2-6, 6-4 in a much more competitive semifinal.

The final features the top two women in the rankings and seedings, No. 1 Williams and No. 2 Sharapova. They are two of three active women with more than two major championships; Sharapova completed a career Grand Slam in Paris last year with No. 4. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A-Rod set to 'monitor' MLB drug investigation

Biogenesis. Yankees' all-star third baseman one of many players linked to Miami clinic

Alex Rodriguez says he plans to keep tabs on developments in Major League Baseball's latest drug investigation — the one where his name keeps popping up along with several other stars.

And New York Yankees teammate Derek Jeter says he'll comment on the scandal after A-Rod does.

Rodriguez, an All-Star third baseman, was among several high-profile players linked to a Miami clinic called Biogenesis of America and its founder Anthony Bosch in a January report in the Miami New Times.

Bosch agreed this week to co-operate with MLB's probe, which could lead to suspensions for Rodriguez, Ryan Braun, Melky Cabrera and others. MLB hopes Bosch will provide information implicating players in the use of banned performance-enhancing drugs.

MLB has already started interviewing players linked to Biogenesis.

"Myself and others are being mentioned in a media report before the process is even concluded," Rodriguez said Thursday in a statement issued by his new spokesman, Ron Berkowitz. "I will monitor the situation and comment when appropriate. As I have said previously, I am working out every day to get back on the field and help the Yankees win a championship. I am down here doing my job and working hard and will continue to do so until I'm back playing."

Rodriguez is recovering from the hip surgery he underwent in January and regularly works out at the Yankees' minor league complex in Tampa, Fla.

After The Miami New Times story was published, Rodriguez issued a statement through spokesman Terry Fahn saying: "Alex Rodriguez was not Mr. Bosch's patient, he was never treated by him and he was never advised by him. The purported documents referenced in the story — at least as they relate to Alex Rodriguez — are not legitimate."

Earlier this year, Rodriguez hired Miami lawyer Roy Black, whose clients have included Rush Limbaugh and William Kennedy Smith. Jay Reisinger, a lawyer and agent for baseball players, is representing Rodriguez in MLB's probe.

Scherzer pitches Tigers past Rays

Detroit starter Max Scherzer struck out nine in seven innings to stay unbeaten this year, and Victor Martinez homered and drove in three runs to lift the Tigers to a 5-2 victory over the Tampa Bay Rays on Thursday.

Miguel Cabrera had three hits for Detroit, along with his major league-leading 66th RBI.

Scherzer (8-0) allowed a run and four hits, walking two. He is the first Detroit pitcher to start the season 8-0 since Jeremy Bonderman in 2007. Joaquin Benoit allowed a run in the eighth, and Jose Valverde pitched a perfect ninth for his seventh save in nine chances. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CFL. After suffering devastating spinal injuries in high school, love of football brings Breaux to Hamilton

Some have mistaken it for a tattoo. Others have actually asked to touch it.

The scar stretching from the base of Delvin Breaux's skull down his neck to roughly his shoulder blades is a constant reminder of how fortunate the Hamilton Tiger-Cats rookie defensive back is to be alive.

"I thank God and am so blessed," Breaux said this week at the CFL team's training camp at McMaster University. "I appreciate football much more because a lot of people wouldn't take a chance on me."

"I'm just so glad to have the opportunity to play again." The 23-year-old cheated death Oct. 27, 2006, just two days after celebrating his 17th birthday. Having already committed to LSU, one of the top programs in U.S. college football, Breaux was covering a kickoff during a high school ations, the first to fix the broken artery and provide stability in his spine. A metal plate was inserted into his neck during the second procedure.

Breaux lost roughly 30 pounds. His recovery took nearly six years and while Breaux attended LSU on an athletic scholarship, he never got medical clearance to play football there.

After university, Breaux worked construction and as a bouncer. He played flag football before catching on with the semi-pro Louisiana Bayou Vipers.

Now, all these years later, Breaux's dream is to get his hands on the Grey Cup.

"Many people would've quit, it wouldn't have been in their heart anymore to keep playing. But I'm a different breed, I want to keep playing."

His right vertebral artery, which carries blood from the heart to the brain and spine, was also severely damaged.

"I remember it like it was yesterday," Breaux said. "Scouts from LSU, everybody, was in the stands and I wanted to make a play."

"So I ran down and led with my head. That was the wrong thing to do, but I wanted to make a play and I wasn't using my eyes and being smart about it. There I was, lying on the ground, I was out."

Amazingly, Breaux walked off the field and told his coaches he wanted back in. But he began experiencing neck and back pain, blurred vision and difficulty swallowing because one of the discs in his neck slipped into his throat.

"(Trainers) tried giving me two ibuprofens but I couldn't swallow and it was hard to breathe," Breaux said. "My dad asked how I was doing and I said, 'I'm good but call an ambulance.'"

It was at the hospital that Breaux realized just how lucky he was.

"The doctor told me afterwards I should've died on the football field," Breaux said.

"My parents, everybody, were crying."

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

Try not to let your anxieties get the better of you. As Neptune turns retrograde in the most sensitive area of your chart today, you may see problems where none exist. Act as if life is wonderful — and it will be.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Today's events will encourage you to believe that all things are possible. But they could also tempt you to take foolish risks, so think before you act. If you make a mistake, fix it.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

Keep things simple today. Also, tread carefully when dealing with employers and other important people. They may see you as a threat and try to clip your wings.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

The planets warn you should watch what you say today, especially if you are one of those Cancerians who tend to speak before fully engaging your brain. You are entitled to your opinion but others are just as entitled to disagree.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

You will act on impulse quite a bit over the next 24 hours. Just be careful you don't say anything that could have a negative financial impact.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Your emotions may be raging but you are determined not to let anyone know about it. That's probably a good move, because if your rivals realize how deep your feelings are, they may exploit them.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Don't let your responsibilities weigh you down. It does not matter how much work you have to do or how far behind you are in your schedule, you must remain cheerful.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Others may give in to despair today but no way are you going to let it affect you. In fact, the more those around you indulge in feelings of doom and gloom, the more you will laugh at them.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Don't feel guilty about what happens to others. You are not responsible for the world and its woes and those who say you are should be laughed at loud and long.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Neptune's apparent change of direction in the travel area of your chart will leave you a bit confused about what you should be doing and where you should be going. The good news is there's no need to rush.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

You may think you know what is going on but the planets warn you are missing an important piece of the puzzle and it could cost you money. Whatever else you do today, don't take chances.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

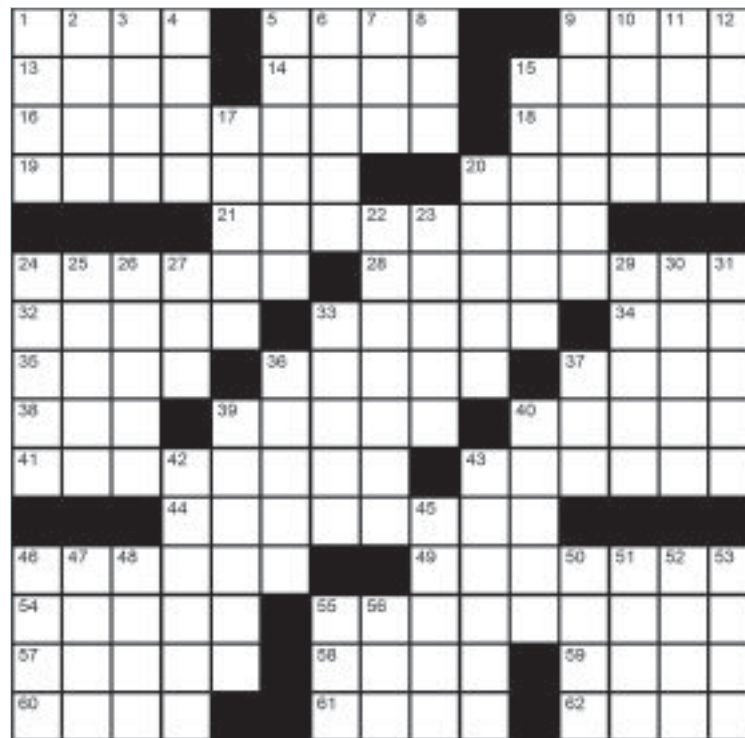

Neptune, your ruler, begins one of its retrograde phases today. Don't be surprised if important issues seem to move in the opposite direction of where you want them to.
